

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Julie Manakas
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Julie,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Christina Berumen
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Christina,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus some time in 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Efrain Desantos
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Efrain,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our projects or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus some time in 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Maria Garcia
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Maria,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus some time in 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Danielle Healey
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Danielle,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus some time in 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Kimberly Paxton
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Kimberly,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August – October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Amy Taylor
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Amy,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August – October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Pearl Chesser
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Pearl,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August – October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Melissa Gonzalez
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Melissa,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Romelia Richman
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Romelia,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Jeannette Sandoval
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Jeanette,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Nicole Feliciano
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Nicole,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Jose Tlaxcuapan
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Jose,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Lourdes Tlaxcuapan
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Lourdes,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Lory Salcedo
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Lory,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Behring Center

Krystal Rose Ramos
Center for Community Engagement
California State University Channel Islands
One University Drive
Lindero Hall, Room 1809
Camarillo, CA 93012

Dear Krystal,

I wanted to thank you for participating in the CSU Channel Islands and Smithsonian Bracero Oral History Project. With the effort you put into the project, we pulled off a successful town hall meeting and collection project. Each city and collecting initiative has been different and we initially didn't know quite what to expect. We collected some interesting material from the Channel Islands/Oxnard area. Our team here in Washington DC is small. We depend on our collaborators and volunteers and CSUCI students did a wonderful job welcoming and engaging the participants. We cannot thank you enough for your work and participation in the project.

I hope to return to LA/Ventura area to follow up with some in depth interviews. If you're interested in helping please let us know.

Transcripts of the interviews will take some time to process. If you're interested in a copy of the interviews, please let me know. Most of the material collected will be available for download at www.braceroarchive.org some time later this year.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions about our project or your experience please let me know. We plan on doing a few more collecting trips if we get the funding. The exhibit Bittersweet Harvest will be on the CSUCI campus August - October 2010. I hope our paths cross then.

Thank you very much for your time. Please contact me if you need anything.

Sincerely,

Steve Velasquez
Associate Curator
Division of Home and Community Life
National Museum of American History