Veterans using the benefits of the California State Bill this semester and will be using it for a following term, either Summer Session or Fall Semester, must have an acceptable record of grades for this Semester at the time of enrollment. It is the responsibility of the veteran to get these grades as the Letter of Authorization will not be accepted without the grades.

Graduation Ball ends semester activities

Prom held Saturday at Hollywood AC

Hollywood is the place for the great annual Graduation Ball of the Senior Class of L.A.S.C. The specific address is 6525 Sunset Blvd. at the Hollywood Athletic Club.

Bids are on sale in AD 221 and Ernie Leal, Mike Polito, and other prominent seniors are also selling bids.

The Ball is a Semi-Formal affair with the "makes you wanna dance" music of Verne Rowe and his orchestra. Verne features the dreamy music of Shirley Gordon and The Notables. Verne, formerly with Les Brown and his band of Renown, played for the Junior Prom last semester and now has been called back for an encore by this year's Senior Class.

Ross Burdick and Ernie Leal, co-chairmen of the Ball, have assured a large turnout for the dance. One reason for this is that this is an all-school dance and everyone is welcome.

Although the theme of the Ball is "Magic Moods", stage money will not be accepted in lieu of U.S. currency. The price of the handkerchief bids is $3.60. "Dutch" Holland will be at the door Saturday evening to sell bids to the "late-deciders".

So, remember! Hollywood Athletic Club, June 3, 1950, 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.—Semi-Formal—Shirley Gordon, The Notables featured with Verne Rowe and his orchestra. The price only $3.60. What a bargain!

Conference competition begins with next basketball season

Taking another big step in building up their athletic program, Los Angeles State College will officially become a member of the California Collegiate Athletic Association January 1, 1951. The official announcement came last Friday from Santa Barbara where the CCAA representatives gathered for their annual spring convention, and voted unanimously to admit the school into the conference, boosting the CCAA membership to six schools. The other five are George Pepperdine College, San Diego State, San Barbara College, Fresno State and California State Polytechnic College of San Luis Obispo. The Diablos replace San Jose State which is dropping out this spring.

Representing the school at the convention were Dr. Morton J.

Statement success

All who contributed material to Statement, the new campus literary magazine, are advised to claim their manuscripts in B 46a before the end of the semester. The editors offer their sincere regrets that some of the material had to be rejected and advise contributors to re-submit their material next semester when the magazine will be able to carry more copy.

According to early sales reports, Statement is proving to be a very successful venture. On Monday, when the magazine was put on sale for the first time, sales far exceeded the expectations of the editors, who expect a "sellout" by the end of the week.

Renshaw, dean of student personnel, Mr. Ferron C. Losee, director of athletics, and Mr. Warren Reeves, business manager. The three-man committee turned in an excellent job in presenting their case to the CCAA members for membership after only two years of intercollegiate competition. All the students and faculty, take their hats off to you, and salute you, for your efforts we are certain will be rewarded. The support of the students and faculty to athletic events will be a must for all starting with the next basketball season.

The entry into the conference was delayed until next January because Los Angeles State does not have a football team. The CCAA rules require members to participate in four major sports, namely basketball, baseball, track and football. The locals will field a gridiron team in September 1951.

Conference play in basketball play will begin next January, with 10 games being played on a home and home basis. The site of the conference track championships is undecided. Tennis, golf and swimming titles will be decided at San Luis Obispo. The latter two sports will be added to the State agenda. Three more sports, gymnastics, water polo, and wrestling will also be added. No official championship is held for these. The baseball season will comprise 15 games, with a doubleheader and single game against each of the other five schools. The team with the best record in conference play will be declared the winner. This season the CCAA was divided into a southern and northern division in baseball.

Dr. Gilbreth honored

The Los Angeles State College Student Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management announces that Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, the remarkable mother in the best seller "Cheaper By The Dozen" will be presented with the first annual award for outstanding contribution to college youth. The presentation will be made by Student Body President, Wayne Hanks.

Dr. Gilbreth will be guest speaker at the "Gilbreth Dinner" to be held in the Student Union on the State College Campus on Friday, June 9, with a reception at 6:00 and the dinner to follow at 6:30. Everyone interested in attending this dinner may purchase tickets in A.D. 221.

GRADUATING SENIORS
 Graduating Seniors, you are urged to attend the Senior Class meeting at 12 noon, this Friday in North Hall 105. Also to pick up your caps and gowns the following Friday, which is June 9. This may be done from 12-4 p.m. or Sunday June 11, from 1-3:30 p.m. Everybody who ordered their announcements may pick them up now in AD 221. All seniors must attend the graduation rehearsal Wednesday June 7 at 3 p.m. in the Admin. Aud. These announcements apply to Summer School Grads. too.

Dr. McDonald tells of cooperative study

Returning to the campus after a month's tour of various American Universities and Colleges that used the cooperative plan of education, Dr. Howard S. McDonald, president expressed a desired hope for the same such program to be carried on this campus beginning with the fall semester in September.

The schools that Dr. McDonald visited were the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, Illinois; Fenn College, Cleveland, Ohio; Cooper Union School of Engineering, New York, New York; University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio; Cornell University, Ithaca, New York; Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Temple University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee; Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio; New York University, New York, New York; and the Fashion Institute of Technology and Design in New York City.

Dr. McDonald expressed great enthusiasm over the various movements he saw going on in the various schools scattered throughout the country. With the help of Mr. Homer Fetty, coordinator of business and industrial training, he hopes to start the ball rolling for such a program that will meet the needs of both business and industry in Los Angeles.

In looking over the different plans used by each school, Dr. McDonald pointed out that there definitely was a variation between some of the schools. For example, Drexel Institute of Technology and Antioch College have cooperative plans on a 100 per cent basis, while some of the others have the plan working only in certain courses on a limited scale.

"I don't believe," the president said, "that a 100 per cent program could be used when we start cooperative education here. We want to move into it slowly so as to meet the needs of cooperative firms. We will expand as we progress."

One of the prime examples on the cooperative plan was at the Illinois Institute of Technology, where Dr. McDonald explained that the 200 students enrolled in cooperative classes were, along with the administration, faculty, and industry, very enthusiastic over the success of the program that was being carried out.

It was also reported by Dr. McDonald that the wages earned by cooperative students were at least $25 to $100 a month higher than other students. Students at Illinois Tech that had cooperative training were given a preference in industry over the non-cooperative trained students.

Critics Corner

by

Bill Kirschner

REVERSING THE USUAL chain of events, this week I have a great deal to say but little space to do it in. So here are some things that should be mentioned with little more than essential facts.

ON CAMPUS UNTIL SATURDAY night will be "Dangerous Corner" by J. B. Priestley, in B16, Bungalow stage. Herb Price directed the more than slightly sexy drama, which is the semester's contribution of the night acting class. See the drama office for reservations. There are no matinees.

AN EXCELLENT CHILDREN'S SHOW is occupying the stage of the Coronet Theatre on Saturdays only, at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 in the afternoon. Bill Hesson makes a terrific giant, in fact the entire cast leaves nothing to be desired on the part of the spectator. Be sure to see the show no matter what your age, whether three or ninety. There is a special rate for groups. The show will be there for two more Saturdays.

OVER AT THE BEAUX ARTS, these next few evenings, "Women Trouble", see "Good-bye Again". Either way the play is harmless and cute, and it has its quota of laughter. I found myself wishing the cast could have had about a weeks extra rehearsal, portions of the play looked in need of it. The idea, I understand, is for a series of three plays; the second in the series will be selected by the audience, the third is that old favorite, "Getting Gertie's Garter." I wish them luck, but they are not going to exactly set the world on fire. Cast members of the first show, Jack Finch deserves special mention, the other performers are capable, Tom Gallivan was miscast, but has a very good sense of comedy. The Beaux Arts is located at Eight and Beacon.

NEXT AT ORCHARD GABLES will be "John Gabriel Borkman" by Ibsen. The play opens June 8, following that groups excellent presentation of "Dr. Faustus" by Marlowe. Phone HU 24822 for reservations.

'Point' on sale

POINT, campus humor magazine for State and City Colleges, is now on sale at the Associated Student Store, and also may be purchased from various campus representatives on Vermont and Monroe Avenues. Due to the anticipated demand of the current issue more than 1000 copies have been printed. Be sure and get your copy today!

State College students contributing to the issues were Don Smith and Fred Allen, fiction; and Doris Ray, gossip. Doris is club editor of the College Times.

Damacitas Doings

Las Damacitas held their annual rush tea recently and amid a motiff of Spring flowers the new women were welcomed by members. The proceedings were presided over by Dr. Penchef, sponsor, and Ruth Taubert, president; Carrie Henderson, Jackie Coons and Evelyn Fishfader received the guests at the door.

After the tea the Damacitas members voted in new members. Seven women were chosen from a large list of applicants. They were as follows: Linda Alverson, Ann Kaouris, Jane Burson, Bonnie Regill, Liz McLaughlin, Margaret Mitchell and Dorothy Tishler. The new pledges will be formally installed next semester.

Elections were held for next semester's Las Damacitas officers at the regular meeting Wednesday, May 17. The new officers were as follows: president, Evelyn Fishfader; vice-president, Irma Tadini; secretary, Marjory Sully; and treasurer, Queenie Harutunian. The new officers will formally be installed on Thursday, June 15, at the installation dinner to be held at the Thistle Inn. The dinner will be a reunion of all past members of the organization.

Saturday, May 27, at the Blue Key party, Wayne Hanks announced the engagement of Betty Tingler to Wayne Scott.

Betty and Wayne plan to be married next spring following Betty's graduation in February.

Wayne will start teaching for the Vineland School District near Bakersfield next September. Betty hopes to do her teaching in Bakersfield, as the couple plan to make their home there following the wedding.

News Briefs

Phrateres International will meet today in NH 111, at 12:00 sharp. All members, active and inactive, make an effort to be present. Final plans for the tea will be discussed. Remember to bring your dues and initiation fees.

Phrateres International have scheduled a tea for Saturday afternoon, June 3. Initiation of members and installation of officers will be held. Guests from UCLA and USC have been invited. Entertainment has been planned and Virginia Hronis, president, will greet the guests.

All girls interested in cooperative housing for next fall semester should contact Dr. Penchef in Administration Building 221 at once.

Under this plan, meals are prepared and paid for by the group. Some homes near the campus are available for this type of organization.

Institute on American culture concludes program tomorrow

The Los Angeles State College and City College Student-Faculty Committee on Cultural Relations will present the 12th Session of the Institute on American Culture this Friday, June 2nd at 12 noon in Science Lecture Hall 201.

The topic for consideration this time will be "Main Currents of American Culture." The program's moderator will be Mr. Meyer Krakowski, department of foreign languages, Los Angeles City College and Chairman of the State College-City College Committee on Cultural Relations. The other members of the panel include, Dr. Richard G. Lillard, department of English, Los Angeles City College; Dr. Sterling P. Kincaid, department of English, Los Angeles State College and Miss Ruth Shelly, social science major of Los Angeles State College. Miss Shelly already has taken her A.B. from the University of Chicago.

This is the last regular scheduled panel of the current spring semester, but we understand from Mr. Krakowski that some very interesting programs will continue in summer school. Watch for the announcement of these in next week's issue of the College Times.

In closing the current series of programs, Mr. Meyer Krakowski, Chairman, stated that "It has been a source of great pleasure and satisfaction to me to arrange these panels on American culture. I wish to express my appreciation to the members of the Committee on Cultural Relations, to the administration, faculties, and the student bodies of both colleges for their cooperation and encouragement. The fifty participants on the panels, seven of whom are off-campus guests, merit special commendation for their interest in helping establish the Institute on American Culture."

Wedding Bells

A shower was held in honor of Damacitas alumnus, June Philipps, at the home of Yvonne Ebner last Wednesday, May 24. June is to become the bride of Paul Ludford on Saturday, June 24.
