Student officers hold picnic; plan football

The Executive Council of State College whose members consistently spend several hours each week meeting to plan activities for students and many additional hours carrying out directives, took time out at their last meeting to schedule a picnic for themselves and guests to be held in Griffith Park, Dec. 3, from 12:30 to 5 p.m.

The main business of the meeting concerned itself with a prospective football team and plans for a program to raise funds. A decision in favor of half time entertainment during forthcoming basketball games was made. Volunteers who wish to perform may contact members of the committee on arrangements at Bungalow G.

Students who wish to post bulletins, advertisements, and announcements should obtain permission from Notifications Commissioner.

Hawthorne MC'd first State rally

Hawthorne and The Four Freshmen came to State College last Wednesday to spark the "Beat Occidental" Rally.

Irma Tadini, chairman of the rally committee, introduced the man from Hoganville who took over as master of ceremonies. He amused the large audience with his antics and comments.

The song and yell leaders, assisted by Vernon Leidig and the Pep Band, went through their routines and yells with the audience.

Hawthorne introduced Sax Elliott, basketball coach. Mr. Elliott then introduced the entire basketball squad.

The Four Freshmen, instrumental-voice combo, now appearing at Jerry Wald's Supper Club in Hollywood, entertained with renditions of "Cherokee," "Mister B's Blue," "Dry Bones," and "Laura." They were discovered by Stan Kenton and are now recording for Capitol Records.

Ruthe Bush, Irma Tadini, Dutch Holland, Dr. Floyd Eastwood, Edwin Rippier and Hawthorne engaged in a bubble gum contest; Hawthorne won as a gigantic bubble formed and burst over his face.

Goal surpassed in Chest Drive

The exact total of Community Chest collections has been determined. The amount is $812.94, making us more than $300.00 over our goal. Thanks is again due to all those who contributed to the drive.

Applications available for Xmas mail jobs

Applications for post office work during the Christmas holiday may be obtained from the on-campus Placement Bureau beginning December 4 at 7:15 a.m.

"The work is for men only with preference given to veterans; it will consist of substitute clerking at the Armory in Exposition Park," announced Miss Larson, head of the Placement Bureau. She added that everyone should watch the blackboard for announcements.

The Placement Bureau is located in Ad 122.

Sigma Alpha Gamma's prize winning float of last year, featuring Ned Booth as the artists' model. Students are urged to attend the parade Friday, Dec. 1, on the men's athletic field.

Last chance for seniors

Seniors, have you had your Senior Portraits for the Pitchfork taken? These photographs are all in black caps and gowns and will appear in the Education Section of our 1951 Pitchfork.

The total number of Seniors graduating in January, June and August of 1951 is estimated to be 400. To date, approximately only 300 seniors have been photographed. The Pitchfork staff wishes to include all seniors. For this reason it is still possible for seniors to have their portraits taken.

To photographer Amos Carr and his two receptionists, the Pitchfork staff extends sincere appreciation and gratitude for their conscientious photography, pleasant attitude and general helpfulness.

Transfer or grad vets to report

Veterans attending school under P.L. 346 who contemplate transferring to another college for the spring semester should apply for a supplemental letter of eligibility before December 15, 1950.

Prospective graduates for January 1950, who attended school under P.L. 346 should report to Veterans' Affairs Office, Ad 112.

Season tickets for alumni

State College Alumni Association members may call Robert L. Wickham, CL 7-1994, for season tickets to all State College events, according to Earl Dunstan, commissioner of activities.

Men are rated superior in poll

By Bob Barnes, Feature Editor

Women are the root of all evil is the theme of Men's Week which started yesterday and continues through Friday. To find out how the lowly women cornered the market on evilness your columnist polled the bearded ones, men, on campus with this question: "Why are we men superior to women?"

Replied Gene Vassar, "I don't know whether I am, but the fellows keep saying we are, so I am."

Joe Zilch piped up, "I demonstrate my superiority over my evil root by absolutely refusing to wash the dishes more than six days a week. We eat out the seventh day."

College Times editor, Bob Miner answered, "Because the women just don't have it." Lowly root, Jo Wright, queried plaintively, "What is this business, it?"

Evil root, Jo Wright continued, "When is women's week?" Doug Andress snapped, "Women are weak."

Dave Snow theorized, "Men are superior in physical and mental ability, and besides, women belong in the home."

Mo'e Zilch added, "I can raise a beard and most women can't."

Bob Lynch, ever apt Delta Kappa Phi pledge, burst out with, "I'll ask Lorraine."

Don Reynolds tossed off, "There's no argument there. I just know I am."

Thoughtful Richard Boyd said, "We men are inclined to base our decisions on fact or rational thinking rather than emotion or so called women's intuition."

Dr. Fred M. Tonge capably answered, "I refuse to discuss the subject. I haven't lived long enough yet." Columnist's note: Dr. Tonge is "in the doghouse" for having shouted "you need a new pair of glasses" during the Chapman College vs. Los Angeles State College basketball game.

Bob Wiskham observed, "We are superior physically and morally. After all you never heard of a loose man."

Our diplomatic cheerleader, Marty Halperin, had this to say, "We are superior because this week is Men's Week."

Al Rief listed some superiorities, "Better construction, less temperamental, better satisfied, plays better poker; men usually buy their own beer. P.S. I still prefer girls."

Harry Hale, husband and student body president, exclaimed after due consideration, "That's a tough question!"

No doubt there are many more superiorities to be listed. Bring your contributions to the College Times office in Bungalow 2 any time up to 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Graduate class to hold meeting

Dutch Holland, graduate class president, has announced that a graduate class meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 30, at 3 in AD 223 to discuss plans for Homecoming events.

All students attending State College who have a Bachelor of Arts degree are urged to attend.

Float Pageant to highlight week

Float parade entries are urged to register in Bungalow G before 9 a.m. Friday, Dec 1.

Scheduled to begin at 12:10 p.m., the float parade with its theme "Women are the root of all evil", will be held in conjunction with the U.S.C. rally.

The Men's Athletic Field at State College will be the starting point of the parade and the place where judges Dr. Fred Tonge, Dr. Helen Kennedy, and Mr. Daniel Amneus will assay the qualities of the floats for originality, workmanship, and appropriateness as to theme.

The Float Pageant, one of the truly great traditions on the State College campus, according to Douglas Andress, chairman of the pageant, deserves the support of all clubs, fraternities, and sororities. It is sponsored by Rho Delta Chi; Craig Bell will act as marshal.

Stag spaghetti feed tonight

Featured activity of Men's Week will be the Stag Spaghetti Feed to be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

According to Bob Dopp of the Men's Week Committee, the after dinner variety show which will include local and outside talent will be a wow.

Admission will be by student body card but reservations must be made in advance at B G.

Caveman Lloyd Hutton crowns Ned Booth "Queen of the Hermits" to climax last year's Men's Week activities.

✓ Phil Forthun

It is high time we, the students of State College, got behind our school and class officers and supported the activities planned for our enjoyment. This is Men's Week which concerns every man on campus. It also concerns all women students, in that they are on the other side of the fence during the week's activities.

In the past two months the Junior class has sponsored two or more events of magnitude only to find little or no support from the Junior class members.

Various groups of students have worked themselves to death almost, preparing and presenting such events as Hawthorne, Community Chest show, Red Cross Blood Drive, and the Crusade For Freedom.

In some cases quite a bit of support was shown, but in the major cases less than half the student body seemed to care whether the event was a failure or not.

Each event drew a few more people out of their shells. But its not enough that we should have only half of the students participate. We want all of you out for every event on our schedule.

The point I want to put over is this . . . Men's Week can be a lot of fun . . . let's all get out and do our darnest to put it over.

Faculty women's luncheon today

All State College faculty women are urged to attend the luncheon and discussion planned for today at 1 p.m. in dining room A of the Student Union, immediately following the CSTA meeting.

Last Monday, Dr. Florence Bonhard entertained the group at her home as a social evening after attendance at the Lux Radio Show.

Black speaks on Muir panel

"Should the U.S. Concentrate its Power in Europe or Asia" was the subject of Thompson Black, assistant professor of government at State College, during a recent panel discussion at the John Muir College Town Hall, Pasadena.

A letter addressed to State College by Donald Yetter, student director of Town Hall, said in part:

"Mr. Black not only ably presented . . . a picture of the scene . . . but succeeded also in stimulating the audience to such a degree that there was not time for him to consider all the questions and comments that the audience had."

Dr. Cake talks at Whittier

Invited by Whittier College to participate in a panel for Vocations Day, Dr. Frances Cake, State College physical education instructor, talked on desirable personal qualifications for prospective physical education educators.

Intended to acquaint students with problems of various professions, job opportunities, trends, salaries and duties in the field of health, physical education, and recreation, the panel was aimed at the more than one hundred Whittier College students who have expressed a desire to enter this field and some of whom may be future State College students.

New law course offered students

Have you ever thought of what your legal responsibilities and opportunities are when you reach 21 years of age? When you sign a conditional payment contract do you know what you legally commit yourself to? Whether going into business or conducting the day to day activities of an ordinary citizen there are ways to prevent legal entanglements and to detect sources of potential legal trouble.

The Division of Business and Economics now has available to all students of this college a new course entitled Preventive Law. We are exceedingly fortunate to have as instructor for the course, Professor Edward Rubin, a practicing attorney in this area and co-author of the text entitled "Preventive Law" which is used in the course.

Students now in the class have reported the course "very interesting" and one which all students would find useful.

The Division of Business and Economics invites all students who wish additional information to see Professor Hoyt in B 101A, from 10 to 12 m Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Projects in psych classes

Three original group projects are under way in classes conducted by Raymond E. Bernberg in industrial psychology at State College.

Students in the "Psychology of Advertising and Selling" class are attempting to determine the effect of sex and socio-economic status upon judgment, reading ease, and the interests showed by magazine audiences.

The "Employment and Personnel Psychology" class is studying attitudes and values of groups engaged in personnel and employment work. A comparison between industrial psychology majors and personnel management majors with employment managers in the field is included in this study.

"Attitude and Opinion Measurement" students are using a new method devised by Dr. Bernberg to construct attitude scales. It is hoped that this study may lead to better methods of screening psycho-neurotics and psychopaths from among potential military inductees.

In connection with his classes in industrial psychology, Dr. Bernberg has been conducting a survey of job opportunities for psychology majors in the oil industry and department store field. Several job openings already have been found and applicants are now being screened. These positions are being filled in conjunction with the Alternate-Work Study Program and future job openings will continue to be coordinated with that office.

Industrial movies

"Industrialism Sweeps On" is the theme of the weekly film series, a joint presentation of Los Angeles City and State Colleges. The films to be shown from 8 to 4 today are "Foundations for the Future" and "Caravans of Trade".

All interested students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend.

Teacher's jobs are available

Eighty to ninety per cent of State College graduating teacher candidates in the elementary field have been placed in jobs the last two years, according to Mrs. Elaine Fritz, placement secretary at State.

In a study made of placement of State teacher candidates for this year by Mrs. Fritz for the Teacher Placement Bureau, it was disclosed that a shortage of teachers still exists in the elementary level of education, especially in the kindergarten and primary grades.

"However," Mrs. Fritz said, "in Los Angeles County this shortage is not as great as in other parts of California. A teacher candidate must be willing to go beyond his own backyard in most cases to get placement."

"Many qualified candidates not placed in teaching jobs through this bureau were those who did not wish to leave their homes to teach."

California is training one and a half times as many secondary teachers as elementary while the demand is only one third as great. Only 55 per cent of candidates trained in secondary fields were successful in being placed this year, the study further showed.

"In the specialized fields, teachers of vocational subjects such as home economics, industrial arts, etc. are in greatest demand, while languages and social studies are in the least," Mrs. Fritz said.

"Secondary candidates should not be completely discouraged because the well-trained and qualified should eventually be placed," Mrs. Fritz emphasized. "More candidates, however, should train and be advised to enter the elementary field. The study has also shown that more men are entering this field than in the past."

"We keep on file for the candidate records of his studies, student achievements, and directed teaching reports so that visiting personnel from schools looking for teachers may see what type of record the candidate has made for himself," Mrs. Fritz said.

She therefore advised that all candidates training at State establish a file in her office for the purpose of placement upon graduation.

Added facilities for women's P. E.

Plans for converting Bungalow 19, formerly a classroom, and Bungalow 20, which served as the State College Physical Education office, into one large room for use of the Women's Physical Education classes are nearing completion.

This added space will provide better facilities for such indoor activities as dance classes, Physical Education 120, and lecture classes, says Dr. Marguerite Mochel, PE instructor.

Dr. Mochel, as well as the other PE instructors, is now available in her new office which was formerly the Office of the Superintendent of Buildings and Receiving Department.

Bees invade quads with full division

Students lunching in the Administration Quads are menaced by the invasion of a division of well trained bees of the "King Size" variety.

Those humble persons of the "Carry-my-lunch" clan, find it extremely difficult to get a noon snack consumed without biting bees. It is probably that bee biting has its adherents, but it seems quite beyond the most exacting students to get the little fellows to refrain from retaliation while being bitten! These adroit aerialists have a way of zooming from the nearest well-aged garbage receptacle onto the nearest sandwich . . . just as the starved scholar stands poised, mouth open and eyes shut in anticipation of the ecstasies as he savors a ham on rye!

The students have expressed their anxiety over the situation and it is hoped authorities will soon order a counter-attack and save this educational institution from utter defeat. It has been suggested that engineers, backed by student cooperation would deprive these flying gourmets of their most sought after nourishment . . . the garbage.

Uebbing to speak on short cuts

Wednesday, Nov. 29, has been set for Mr. Uebbing, representative of Marchant Calculating Machines Company, to address interested students on short-cuts and problems involved in use of calculating machines. The meeting will take place in AD 206 at 1.

Peter Page to present music recital Thursday

Mr. Peter Page, assistant professor of music, will present a recital at 11 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 30 in FA 102. Mr. Page will be accompanied by Mrs. Jane Plank, assistant professor of music.

Draft rumor corrected

Students expecting to be called in the next draft will be relieved to have a rumor corrected. The rumor was that you must be in the top half of your class scholastically in order to keep out of the army.

The following letter was sent to Dr. Morton J. Renshaw, dean of students.

" . . . In case a Local Board refuses to postpone the induction of a student now enrolled and making satisfactory progress in a full-time course, institutional authorities should immediately communicate with the Local Board and request the Board to contact the State Director for clarification of procedure.

"Postponement of induction to the end of the academic year is based solely upon actual enrollment in school at the time the call for induction comes and satisfactory progress in the course. Rank in the upper 50 percent of the class is not a requirement."

State vs Trojans Sat.

Diablos trip Tigers; Ready for S.C. tilt

State College's basketball team rolled along in its "undefeated stride" by downing a strong and smooth-working quintet from Occidental College last Wednesday night on the local court. The final score showed the Diablos on top with a total of 55 points against the 46 points scored by the Oxy Tigers.

At half-time the visitors were leading the State cagers by a score of 23 to 19. Throughout the game the lead alternated between teams with each on top at various times.

Jack Sparks, playing in guard position for the locals paced his teammates for high point honors with an individual total of 13 points. Playing most of the game Sparks scored 8 of his 13 points on field goals, the other 5 digits were scored from the free-throw ring. Marv Gurian, alternating in a forward spot, was runner-up scoring 9 points for the Diablos.

The Statemen sank the first basket and then began to roll, amassing a comfortable lead over the Oxy squad. Then both their offensive and defensive play began to bog down with Oxy narrowing the score margin, finally coming out in front minutes before the half-time horn sounded.

At the beginning of the second half a "fired-up" Diablo squad again took over the lead with the offense beginning to roll. Gene Boucher and Ed Goorjian accounted for a number of digits from center-court shots.

Dick Green playing in the center position again failed to connect on any of his numerous pivot shots, scoring only 4 points via free-throw. Norm Witte alternating at forward accounted for 3 field goals during the second period.

Guard Jim Tunney paced the losers with a grand total of 16 points, all the result of field goals. He was finally taken out of the game as a result of committing too many personal fouls. Archie Palma, Occidental forward, was also eliminated for both personal and technical fouls.

The game was hard fought throughout, with members of both teams fighting for the ball, resulting in numerous fouls being called by the officials.

State College's next game will be played with Southern California on next Saturday night. The game will be played at USC with the tip-off slated for 8 p.m. Following this game the locals will host Long Beach State College in a home game on Dec. 6.

AWS sponsor dance Dec. 16

According to an announcement from Liz McLaughlin, AWS president, that organization is sponsoring the Backwards Dance, Saturday, Dec. 16 following the State-Whittier basketball game.

The dance will be held in the Eagles Hall on North Vermont.

Diablos to invade Trojan campus Sat.

by Bill Walsh

State College's Casabamen, unbeaten in three starts, move into a little bigger competition this Saturday night when the Trojans of U.S.C. host the locals to a tiff on the "Trojan hardwood".

This will be the first time that these two teams have met and the first away game for the Diablos, what is scheduled to be a basketball game could well turn into a track meet with the Men of Troy taking top honors.

No word has leaked out concerning the casaba activities of the campus to the South, however their past performances should provide sufficient proof of their cage abilities. One consolation lies in the fact that if S.C. fields a team comparable to their 1950 football team the Diablos should have no trouble marching through, over, under and around Tommy Trojan.

Judging from the past three starts the locals should be in tip top shape for this all important encounter. Weaknesses in defense have been plugged and the team is functioning more smoothly and coordinately. Much improvement was apparent in the Oxy clash of last week. Win or lose we may all be certain this game will provide the spectators with all the thrills they can stand in one basketball period.

Tip off time has been scheduled for 8 p.m. in the S.C. gym.

Know your cagers

This is the first in a series on basketball players

Jack Sparks

One of the key men counted on by Coach Sax Elliot to lead the State basketball team on the hardwood this season is first string guard Jack Sparks. Sparks, a returning letterman from the '49 squad, will be out to better his scoring laurels of last year when he placed behind Dick Green with a total of 238 points, an average of 9.0 per contest.

The lanky six foot player is regarded as one of the most colorful men on the local floor. He is noted for his powerful "impossible" drive-in shots, and last year proved one of the hardest players to guard on the team. Sparks is a steady floor man and is a deadeye from any place on the court.

He began his casaba career at Los Angeles High playing for the Romans from 1944-46. During his final year he was awarded a berth on the first string All-Western League team, and a place on the third string All-City squad.

During 1947-48 Sparks held down a first string post on the City College five. He was third man in scoring on the Cub squad in '48, and later was chosen third string All-Southern California Junior College.

Sparks is majoring in business at State. His hobbies are playing A.A.U. basketball during the summer months, and "feeding the horses" in the winter.

Keglers drop to second place

State College's bowling team dropped into a second place tie with USC in the Intercollegiate Bowling League when the locals dropped one game of a three game series to Caltech at Pan Pacific Bowl, Sunday, Nov. 19. Captain Len Weksler paced his teammates with a total of 560 points for the three game series. Hal Wagner won individual game honors by bowling a 205 point game against Weksler's 203 point game.

L.A. City College is still leading the league with a total of 6 wins against no defeats.

LASC on TV

State College students were guest artists on the Ronnie Kemper morning television show over KLAC-TV last week.

Irma Tadini and Doug Stitt sang. Betty Coggins arranged for their appearance on the show.

TENNIS CLUB

All State College women students who are interested in forming a tennis club, please meet in Bung 20 at 10 o'clock Friday, Dec. 1. If for any reason you cannot attend at this time and are interested, leave your name, address & phone number with Dr. Cake or the Physical Education Secretary in Engineering 120.

San Diego new 2C2A champs

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 26. San Diego State College and Santa Barbara College, top two teams in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, slugged it out for the Conference football championship here Sat. night at La Playa Stadium. When the final gun sounded San Diego State was out in front by a score of 28 points to Santa Barbara's 12.

Both schools were fighting for their first 2C2A gridiron championship since the league was formed in 1939. Last year's champion was San Jose State, no longer a member of the conference.

The Gauchos of Santa Barbara went into the playoff with three loop wins and no defeats. They scored wins over Fresno State, Cal Poly and Pepperdine to gallop toward the championship. Against the same teams, San Diego State won two and tied one, a 20-20 deadlock with Fresno State.

Kappa Phi Sigma holds pledge party

Kappa Phi Sigma held a pledge party last Saturday evening at the home of Tom McAleer, pledge. Members and dates spent the evening dancing, talking and singing, and were served refreshments.
