CATON-WALLACE ELECTED

Vol. X, No. 13 Los Angeles, California Thursday, May 3, 1956

Run-off Election Decides Offices

Run-off elections will be held today and tomorrow for the offices of one councilman and senior class president.

Ken Coleman was elected to be one of the two councilmen with 356 votes. John Clendenning and Dorothy Chamness will be candidates for the remaining council post. In the first election they won 250 and 265 votes, respectively.

Clendenning lists his platform as: "I elected I hope to devise more effective methods of collecting for the campus chest." He previously attended LACC and the University of California at Berkeley. At LASC he has participated in the Reader's Matinee, Forensics, and the Statement. He is a member of CSTA and the Scholarship Society.

Miss Chamness lists no platform. She is a former student of Glendale College. At LASC she has been head song-leader, AS cabinet secretary, member of the Pan-Hellenic and junior class councils, AWS treasurer and publicity chairman of the all-State picnic. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma, ICEC and Phrateres.

A three-way run-off for senior class president will be held. Candidates are Esther Castruita, Dominic Ruggiero and Edward Lee. Unofficial results for the first election list Miss Castruita with 135 votes, Ruggiero with 107, and Lee with 108. Recounts were still being held at presstime.

Miss Castruita lists as her platform: "A well-rounded, meaningful program of activities for all seniors and integration of the senior class into activities of the school as a whole." She previously attended LACC. At LASC she has participated on the Greek Ball committee and the picnic committee. She has been junior class president and member of Tau Sigma Nu, Pan-Hellenic and CSTA.

As his platform, Ruggiero lists: "To build up student interest and spirit in our college activities and promote unification of the other two campuses." He previously attended Long Beach State College and LACC. He is a member of the Inter-Fraternity Council and Delta Kappa Phi.

Lee's platform is: "Closer relations between class officers and greater contact between officers and student body for purposes of giving the student the type of activities which he desires." He previously attended LACC. At LASC he has been junior class treasurer and senior class treasurer and vice president. He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega.

Old Viola Featured At Noon

Music of the 16th century will be performed on authentic instruments of that period on the Ramona campus in the Music Hall at noon today.

The music of this period is the feature of the Renaissance Music Society of UCLA, under the direction of Dr. Walter Rubsamman.

Robert Pritchard will play the harpsichord; Myron Sordler, Tibor Zelig, Harry Blumberg and Rebecca Hathaway will play viols. They are all professional musicians.

Next Thursday, May 10, the Los Angeles State Brass Choir, composed of 20 brass players and percussionists will present a varied music program. This program will consist of a special arrangement of "How High the Moon," fanfares and 16th century and contemporary numbers.

Dr. Heaton Named To National Group

The appointment of Dr. Israel C. Heaton as a member of the Redistricting Committee for the American Recreation Society was announced today, Washington, D.C., by George T. Sargisson (Wilmington, Del.), society president.

Dr. Heaton is assistant professor of recreation.

The American Recreation Society is composed of over 2800 professional recreation leaders and administrators employed by governmental agencies, hospitals, institutions, industrial firms and voluntary organizations from throughout the country. The society has helped to raise the quality of professional leadership since its organization in 1938.

Brass Choir Schedules Programs For All College Tour Next Week

The Los Angeles State College Brass Choir, presented by the Associated Students of Los Angeles State College, will tour colleges in this area next week.

Three concerts are planned. Tuesday, May 8 at 11 a.m. the group will play for Glendale City College students, Thursday, May 10 at 9:30 a.m. the choir will be presented at Pasadena Nazarene College, and on Thursday, May 10 at 12 noon the final concert will be presented at Los Angeles State College M-a on campus in the Music Hall. Everyone is welcome to attend any of these concerts.

The purpose of these tours has been to acquaint junior college students and other public groups with the varied range of expression possible with brass instruments and introduce these people to some of the opportunities available at Los Angeles State College.

The group consists of 16 brass instruments and three percussion. The instrumentation includes five trumpets, three French horns, two baritone, four trombones, tuba, drums, cymbals, tympani, and piano.

The concerts will be varied, including compositions from ultra-classical to "pops."

The program will open with a Chorale by Praetorius (1607), followed by four brilliant fanfares by Liadow and Glazounow. Next, three 17th century compositions will be included: a "March" by Bach, "Galliard" by Harding, and "Conzona per Sonare No. 11" by Gabrieli.

One of the highlights will be the "Concerto for Tympani and Brass Choir" by Weinberger. Jack Whaley, tympanist, a senior student now student-teaching, will be featured as soloist.

A romantic original will follow: the second movement of "Symphony for Brass Choir" by Ewald.

Vernon Leidig, director of the instrumental ensemble, said that, "In addition to promoting interest in Los Angeles State College, the organization gives outstanding brass instrumentalists an opportunity to perform original brass choir literature, as well as special arrangements."

FOURTH ANNUAL GREEK BALL to host Blue Notes for entertainment at the Riviera Country Club this coming Saturday evening. The Greek Ball is open to student body at $2.50 per couple, dress semi-formal. Affair scheduled from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Sponsored jointly by Inter-Fraternity and Pan-Hellenic councils. Tickets may be purchased at the Graduate Manager's office. Dance committee members include Les Rugg, Diane Ruez, Betty McDade, Chris Harding and Dorothea Inselman.

Color Travelogue Hosted by Vermont

"Around South America," a Burton Holmes natural color travelogue, will be shown Wednesday, May 16, noon in the Vermont campus auditorium.

The hour-long color film will be narrated by Francis Corral. Admission is free and open to the public.

Lawmakers To Give Views of Demos, GOP

Democrats will have their say tomorrow at noon in G-1, Ramona campus.

Next Wednesday, same time and place, the Republican angle will be offered Diablos.

Sponsored by the college's Government Club, the programs will bring to the campus Democratic State Assemblyman William Munnell of the 51st District and Republican State Assemblyman Charles Conrad of the 57th District.

They will make addresses and participate in discussion with the audience. The programs are open to all.

Council Applicants

Extended Day Council applications are now being accepted for the fall semester. Requirements for membership in the council are 3 units of late afternoon or evening classes, grade point average of 1.3 and ambition.

VICE PRESIDENT WALLACE . . .

. . . PRESIDENT CATON

Diablo Voters Cast 800 Ballots; Largest Election in State History

Louis Caton was elected AS president in the student body elections held April 24 and 25 on the Vermont campus and April 26 and 27 on the Main campus.

Some 800 Diablos cast their ballots. This has been the greatest turnout ever recorded at LASC.

Mel Wallace was elected AS vice president, polling 444 votes to 320 for his only opponent, Peter V. Bodourian.

Caton polled 495 votes against 281 for Ben D. Rude. Voting polls were manned by students in government classes under supervision of associate government professor Dr. Thompson Black.

Other election results are:

Rep at Large

Carol Joyce Coombs was elected AS representative at large; she won 372 votes against 110 for Madeline Smith and 218 for Tom Atkinson.

Ken Coleman was elected AS councilman with 356 votes. A run-off election between John Clendenning and Dorothy Chamness will be held to decide who will fill the second councilman's post. They polled 250 and 265 votes, respectively. The other candidate for the post, Arthur Serote, received 209 ballots.

Walter Bauer was elected AMS president with 390 votes; he was unopposed.

AMS Rep

David Karbo was elected AMS vice president with 375 votes, and Leo Chaus will become AMS treasurer, having won 331 votes. Both were unopposed.

The post of AWS president goes to Sandra Wisner with 120 votes. Marjorie Lewis received 152 votes to become AWS vice president-elect. Marilyn Darling received 33 write-ins for the same office.

Other AWS officers-elect are Dorothea Inselman for recording secretary with 116 votes, Yolanda Gonzales for treasurer with 115 votes and Ruth Curtwright for historian-publicity with 121 votes. All were unopposed.

Class Officers

Unopposed for the post of graduate class president, Aime Parenteau Jr. won with 146 ballots.

Dorothea Pattison was also unopposed in her election as graduate class public relations with 98 votes.

Because no candidate for senior class president received a majority of votes cast, there will be a three-way run-off between Esther Castruita, Dominic Ruggiero and Edward Lee.

Christine Harding with 279 votes and Margaret Louis with 266 votes were unopposed in their election to senior class vice president and senior class secretary, respectively.

Nancy Bell was elected senior class treasurer with 166 votes against 103 for Peggy Lou Benton.

A write-in candidate Tom Nuckell won the post of junior class president with 13 votes, opposed by Marty Wong with three write-ins.

All other junior class officers-elect were unopposed. Those elected were Jerry Casselman with 93 votes to the class presidency, Pat Edwards with 89 votes to the secretaryship, and Carolyn Diane Creech with 87 votes to the treasurership.

Victors Thank All Supporters For Help

In post-election statements, AS president-elect Louis Caton and vice president-elect Mel Wallace thanked their supporters for their cooperation in the campaign.

"I want to thank the students for their tremendous turnout," Caton said. "Mel Wallace and myself promise to carry out the platform we were elected on."

Caton was born Sept. 3, 1930, in Los Angeles, Calif. He has been married three years and has one child, a boy 22 months old. He served 45 months in the Air Force in the Judge Advocate's office. He is a pre-legal major, aiming toward legal practice.

Wallace was born Feb. 20, 1933 in New York City. He is a sociology-police major with ambitions toward prevention of juvenile delinquency.

He has been married four years and he and his wife are currently expecting their first child. In the Army he served as a photographer for the Department of Defense.

AS vice president Wallace hopes to start more activities for the older students. "Something like a Wife's Club, something other campuses have, might be tried," he says.

Caton hesitates definitely to mention specific measures he hopes for, because there is a problem of facilities to meet.

"I would like to have assemblies during football season," Caton says, "but we have neither a stadium nor an indoor auditorium at the Ramona campus. Maybe we could hold mass meetings in the library square."

Caton favors closer coordination with all independent groups on campus and the Executive Council. "We also want to utilize to the fullest the office of public relations to build up prestige of LASC."

Wallace congratulated all candidates for "a good, well-fought campaign." He said that this probably accounted for the large turnout of voters.

Baxter Speaks On Shakespeare

Dr. Frank Baxter will speak on "Who Wrote Shakespeare's Plays?" at the Vermont campus auditorium May 8 at 8 p.m.

The well known professor of English at USC will discuss the sometimes controversial subject of the authorship of the works of the Bard of Avon.

Earlier this week, the College Times attempted to poll the members of the Los Angeles State College English Department to obtain their opinions on the subject. College Times efforts met with little success.

The two members who answered our request for opinions were agreed that Shakespeare wrote Shakespeare's plays.

To those students and members of the faculty interested in hearing both sides of the question, Dr. Baxter's lecture is open to all free of charge.

Admission to the event will be on a first come, first served basis.

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS, LOS ANGELES STATE COLLEGE

Dear Students:

I should like to extend to the Associated Students of Los Angeles State College my congratulations for the job that was done in expressing to our Legislators the support of our students and members of the community for the Legislative action appropriating funds for the construction of permanent buildings for our college.

A number of Legislators have told me that they greatly appreciated the form in which the petitions were presented to them and that they were impressed by the number of these petitions as well as by their contacts they have had with our students and our student body representatives.

From the reaction of members of the Legislature I am certain you have made a substantial contribution to the success of our efforts to obtain a new permanent campus for the college. I should like to express my personal appreciation for the splendid cooperation we have always received from the students in this as in other projects for the welfare of Los Angeles State College.

Sincerely yours,

HOWARD S. McDONALD
President

Guest Column

Long before Bridey Murphy had been lassoed from oblivion, a much more productive reincarnate named Patience Worth was pouring out successful literature via a ouija board.

Patience, like Bridey, also hailed from the British Isles. She supposedly had lived in medieval England.

But whereas Bridey was good only for vague reminiscences about her family, Miss Worth turned out a steady stream of prose and poetry for 15 years.

Patience made her "re-appearance" in 1915 when Mrs. John H. Curran of St. Louis, Mo., and a neighbor were toying with a ouija board which they had done, unspectacularly, many times before.

Suddenly, however, the ouija pointer, obviously obsessed, rapidly began spelling out instructions in archaic English to stick by the board at all costs.

In a moment the baffled Mrs. Curran and her friend discovered that the pointer had identified the invisible correspondent as one Patience Worth, long since dead, whose soul was communicating through Mrs. Curran.

Henceforward, almost any time Mrs. Curran got near the ouija board, Patience somehow compelled her to take dictation, so to speak.

The surprised woman's husband began copying down the rapid fire communications from Patience, and in short order found that the old gal was making sense.

In fact, she became so sensible that she began writing novels and poems, all with a religious tone, and all of them big sellers in the bookstores.

Patience's ethereal thoughts came so prolifically that many a night would find Mrs. Curran sweating over the ouija board as it spelled out sections of two separate novels and several poems almost simultaneously.

Her published novels include "A Sorry Tale," a story of biblical days; "Telka," which tells of life in medieval England, and "Hope Trueblood," which is set in a village of mid-Victorian England.

Other publications were of poetry, some of it written in an extremely archaic English dialect.

Even today most well stocked libraries have several of the reincarnate's efforts, in which the title pages read "by Patience Worth, communicated or dictated through Mrs. John H. Curran."

Native of Jordan Views Feelings of Near East

BY HARVEY KAUFFMAN
College Times Staff Writer

Jordan, one of the five Arab nations which border Israel, watches the Jewish State with great interest. Once she joined with her Arab brothers to combat Israel. She has joined the League again to defend herself.

Mahmoud Abushman, a native of Jordan and an administrative-management major at Los Angeles State, helped in the Arab-Israel War by preparing munitions for the Arab League. He's prepared to do it again if need be after he graduates in June and goes back to his country.

Viewing the problems in the Middle East, Abushman says: "Without a foundation of Middle Eastern History, both recent and ancient, the casual observer of the Arab-Israeli problem would perceive only in terms of his own frame of reference, and in the case of the average American, there is a complete blind spot surrounding Middle Eastern History and the sociological background of the Arab peoples."

each of his statements, but for this too much space is necessary). Being here, many thousands of miles from home (both of us), and being students, gave me the hope that we students (Arabs and Israelies) would be able to use our time here to get some understanding of each other, an understanding which could form the basis for agreement in the future. It is regretful, but Mr. Abushman's letter did not strengthen my already somewhat shaky hope in this matter.

MOSHE H. SLUSZEWER
Editors: I would like to comment on Mr. Dick Dugally's article in the Guest Column of April 26.

Dr. Dugally was no doubt sincere in his attempt to point out the value and necessity of doing homework but this is no excuse for the absurdity upon which he based his article. That was that homework was part of our education which would put us above the "run-of-the-mill idiot" who is not college educated. He maintains that college students are "the leaders, they are the intellectuals and they are the ones who really live," while all others are the "non-educated, non-accomplishers who take from the world and return nothing." These people never find "anything worth while in life."

I am compelled to take issue with Mr. Dugally, not for mere academic argumentation, but because his remarks seemed to be aimed at some people very close to my heart. People to whom I owe my all People of whom I am very proud, my parents.

My mother who is a housewife and my father who is a common laborer didn't have the opportunity to acquire Mr. Dugally's "quivera," namely a college education. According to Mr. Dugally this makes them "run-of-the-mill idiots who are part of a machine that punches a timecard, do what they are ordered to do by some half-wit foreman, come home to watch television for several hours until it's time for bed and then start the whole routine over again..."

No, they're not idiotic cogs in a machine, they're human, with human feelings and emotions, and they can think intelligently.

Perhaps my mother can't discuss the sociological ramifications of Dewey's theory of education but she can hold her own when it comes to keeping a family of six well fed and clothed on a budget for four. Perhaps my father can't adequately discuss the historical development of the doctrine of Neo-Confucianism but it would only take a minute's preparation to have him give a 30 minute lecture on why F.D.R. was a better president than Herbert Hoover.

Education and intelligence are not synonymous. My parents can think, they're living and giving, and they're happy.

Is this a selected example not applicable to the majority of non-college educated individuals? I think not. They're part of that division of society which sociologists call "doers" not "half-wits." These are the people whose energy and sweat built our freeways, our civic buildings, and built schools so that Mr. Dugally and his children can attend them. These people built the car Mr. Dugally rides to school, they built the house in which Mr. Dugally sleeps. Yes, these are the same people who made the very clothes Mr. Dugally is wearing. Perhaps after realizing this he will clad himself with college bookcovers and term papers (made by the same people).

Our society needs these "doers." They're indispensable. It's not for us as college students to snipe and belittle them but rather to recognize the vital position they hold in our society and commend them on a job well done.

Kipling once wrote, "If you can walk among kings and still keep a common touch... then you are a man, my son." If this be true, and if Mr. Dugally regards going to college as walking among kings, then Mr. Dugally is a mere child.

Summer School Set for June Registration

Students interested in the coming summer session at LASC can obtain the information bulletin B-M.

Registration for the six week period will be held June 18. No advance application for admission is necessary, but students who wish may contact the Admissions Office and admission forms will be mailed to them.

Undergraduate and graduate work will be offered in Bus. Ad., Fine Arts, Education, Health and Phys. Ed., Recreation, Lang. Arts, Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, and the Technical Sciences.

Tuition is $8.50 per semester unit. A student activity fee of $2 will also be charged. Late registration is an additional $2. The Business Office reminds students that these fees are subject to change before the beginning of the school in June.

Students may audit any of the summer session courses, but the regular tuition fees will be charged. Petitions for credit in audited courses are not approved, should the student later change his mind.

Students may register for a maximum of six units. The only exception to this rule is in the case of activity courses. Students may register for an additional unit in some activity classes.

All classes will meet from June 19 until July 27, unless other dates are specifically stated in the bulletin. Classes will be offered on both the Ramona and Vermont campuses. Consult the bulletin for the location of the classes you are interested in attending.

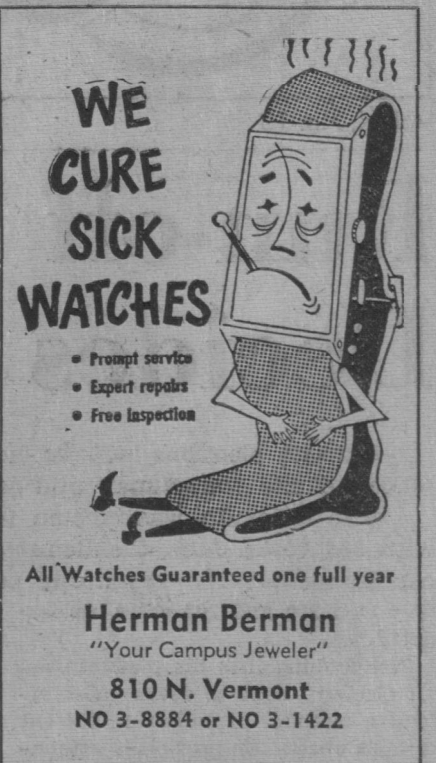

Further information can be obtained by writing the Dean of Summer Session John A. Morton, 855 North Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles 29.

Former Editor Receives Award

Robert Gamm, former College Times managing editor, has been awarded an All-American by the Associated Collegiate Press. The All-American is the highest achievement possible by a college newspaper.

Gamm is editor of Trade Winds, monthly publication of Los Angeles Trade-Technical College. The Trade Winds was the only junior college monthly in a class of 28 to win the top award. The national contest attracted more than 470 newspapers throughout the nation.

Newspapers are rated as All-American, first, second, third and fourth class. Only 14 per cent of the papers entered were judged All-American by a board of prominent metropolitan newspaper editors throughout the East.

MONEY ISN'T EVERYTHING

I have asked the makers of Philip Morris — an enterprising and aggressive group of men yet at the same time warm and lovable; though not without acumen, perspicacity, and drive; which does not, however, mask their essential greatheartedness; a quality evident to all who have ever enjoyed the beneficence and gentleness of their wares; I refer, of course, to Philip Morris Cigarettes, a smoke fashioned with such loving care and tendered with such kind regard that these old eyes grow misty when I think upon it — I have asked, I say, the makers of Philip Morris — that aggregate of shrewd but kindly tobaccoists, that covey of enlightened Merry Andrews, that cluster of good souls bound together by the profit motive and an unflagging determination to provide all America with a cigarette forever gentle and eternally pleasing — I have asked, I say, the makers of Philip Morris whether I might use today's column to take up the controversial question: Should a coed share expenses on a date? "Yes," said the makers simply. We all embraced then and squeezed each other and exchanged brave smiles, and if our eyes were a trifle moist, who can blame us?

To the topic then: Should a coed share expenses on a date? I think I can best answer the question by citing the following typical case:

Poseidon Nebenzal, a student at Oklahoma A and M, majoring in hides and tallow, fell wildly in love with Mary Ellen Flange, a flax weevil major at the same school. His love, he had reason to believe from Mary Ellen's sidelong glances and maidenly blushes, was not entirely unrequited, and by and by he mustered up enough courage to ask her the all-important question: "Will you wear my 4-H pin?"

"Yes," she said simply. They embraced then and squeezed each other and exchanged brave smiles, and if their eyes were a trifle moist, who can blame them?

For a time things went swimmingly. Then a cloud appeared. Mary Ellen, it seems, was a rich girl and accustomed to costly pleasures. Poseidon was bone-poor and he quickly ran out of money. Unable to take Mary Ellen to the posh places she fancied and too proud to tell her the reason, he turned surly and full of melancholy. Senseless, violent quarrels developed. Soon it appeared that the romance, so promising at the beginning, was headed for a breakup, but at the last moment, Poseidon managed to blurt out the truth.

"Oh, beloved agrarian!" cried Mary Ellen, grappling him close. "Oh, proud husbandman! Oh, foolish reaper! Why have you not told me before? I have plenty of money, and I will contribute according to my ability."

Poseidon, of course, protested, but she finally persuaded him of the wisdom of her course. From then on they split all expenses according to their incomes. Rather than embarrass Poseidon by handing him money in public, a joint bank account was set up to allow him to write checks. Into this account each week they faithfully deposited their respective allowances — 35 cents from Poseidon; $2300 from Mary Ellen.

And it worked fine! Gone was all the arguing and bickering. They were happy — truly happy! Oh, what's more, when they graduated they had a nice little nest egg — eight million dollars — with which to furnish a lovely apartment in Lubbock, Texas, where today they operate the local laundromat.

So you see? You too can salvage your failing romance if you will only adopt a healthy, sensible attitude toward money.

Lucie is no obstacle when it comes to Philip Morris. Popular prices still prevail for this, America's gentle cigarette, whose makers bring you this column every week.

Library Staff Always Active

One of the busiest departments on the State College campus is the Library.

The loan program of painting masterpieces, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Huston, is in full swing. Students will be able to take home the painting of their choice tomorrow.

Last weekend, College Librarian Beverly Caverhill led a staff delegation to Santa Barbara for a meeting of the California Library Association.

Much of the time there was spent building ideas from the recently built library on the Santa Barbara campus of the University of California. Much of the staff time is being spent preparing for the coming library building and improving facilities for the students.

On Saturday, Ralph Moritz of the Library staff will address a joint meeting of the Music Library Association and the American Musicalological Society at the Pasadena Public Library. His subject will be the copywriting of music.

Tracksters In Bid For CCAA Track Title; Fresno State Slight Favorite at Long Beach

Agostini, Robinson Favored; Whitfield Choice in 440, 880

BY MIKE CALZONE
Associate Sports Editor

Depth and superior first-place strength in six events gives Fresno State the favorite's role in Saturday's CCAA track and field finals at Long Beach's Veterans' Stadium.

First race is scheduled for 2 p.m., following preliminaries in the morning.

LASC, which finished second in last year's loop meet, is expected to be the other half of what shapes up as a two-team fight. The Fresno spikers, however, with sprinter Mike Agostini and hurdler deluxe Ancel Robinson, should cop their fourth consecutive league title.

Agostini, Robinson, and State's Jim Burks are expected to wage a torrid duel in the 100, with "Aggie" rating first spot by a slight margin. His top clocking is 9.4s., Robinson's 9.7, and Burks' is 9.6s.

Breaks World Mark

But, the Fresno flyer figures to have an easier time of it in the 220, where he's already broken the world record at 20.1s. The mark has not yet been approved, however.

Mal Whitfield, LASC's two-time Olympic champion, should contribute heavily to the Devils' scoring in the 440 and 880, where he has 48.9 and 1:50.3 marks.

Fresno has the upper hand in the hurdles, where Robinson (14.2 and 22.3) holds forth. "Robbie" rates over last year's hurdle champ, Dan Miller of State.

Bulldog strength in the field events will probably net them enough valuable points to win. Pole vaulters Bob Brodt (14-3) and Art Pederson (14-0) figure to place 1-2 in that event, while discus tosser Bud Anderson looks a little too tough for the field there.

Miller Favored

LASC is not without first place strength, however. Besides Whitfield, Dan Miller should walk off with top honors in the high jump for the second straight year, and Fernandez Goode and Dee Vadetsky are tabbed in the broad jump and javelin.

Santa Barbara's Gordon McClenathen looks like the number one distance man in the loop, but his favoritism in the mile is rather shaky. Either Cahit Onel of Fresno or LA's Wilbur Williams could catch the Gaucho star in the four-lapper. All have done 4:20 or better.

Whitfield and Agostini will hook up on the anchor lap of the mile relay, which should be interesting. The latter possesses burning speed, while Whitfield's advantage is his loose, easy stride. Team-wise, the Bulldogs have a best of 3:16.2 in the relay, a shade faster than LASC's 3:16.7.

DAN MILLER . . . Key man

Baseball Team Faces Poets on Whittier Field

Swinging into the final stages of their schedule, LASC's baseballers travel to Whittier to battle the Poets tomorrow afternoon at 3.

Coach Hank Ennen's Devils faced Chapman Tuesday and Valley JC yesterday in an effort to snap their 12-game losing string, which dates back to March 27.

Whittier boasts a topnotch hurler in righthander Duane Cole, who pitched for LACC in 1953 and '54. The husky blond has several shutouts to his credit this year.

Last season, the Diablos and Poets split a pair of contests, with Whittier copping the first 18-9 and the locals prevailing 6-1.

Games with Whittier and Santa Barbara, the latter a CCAA tilt, were rained out last week, and chances are neither will be made up.

Following tomorrow's game, State meets Pepperdine at Crystal Springs next Tuesday, and Pasadena Nazarene plays host to the Devils Wednesday. A single game with San Diego State next Friday winds up play for the '56 season.

In CCAA play, Fresno State is tops with a 6-1 record, with San Diego second at 5-2, Santa Barbara (4-3), Cal Poly (2-3), and the Diablos (0-7), follow.

1. D. Miller (LA State) Should win rather easily.
 2. Ott (San Diego) Best jump of 6-3 3/4.
 3. Tie—Backman (Fresno) Carries Bulldogs hopes.
- Gray (Long Beach) After all, they are the hosts.
Lachman (LA State) Steadily improving, now or never.
Austin (Santa Barbara) Jumps around 6-2.

BROAD JUMP

1. Goode (LA State) Must hustle to beat Gambini.
2. Gambini (Fresno) Last year's winner.
3. Hill (San Diego) Top mark of 22-4.
4. Himmer (San Diego) Pretty close to Hill.

JAVELIN

1. Vadetsky (LA State) His 206-6 the best of the field.
2. Ballester (Long Beach) "Iron man" might edge State's Johnson.
3. D. Johnson (LA State) Second part of 1-2 punch.
4. Sutherland (Fresno) Has done around 190 ft. for Raisin City men.

POLE VAULT

1. Brodt (Fresno) Mark of 14-3 good enough.
 2. Pederson (Fresno) Half of tough twosome.
 3. Tie—Cook (LA State) Topped 13 ft. recently.
 4. Carrillo (LA State) Holds school record.
- Morris (Santa Barbara) Just does get in.

SHOT PUT

1. Abbot (San Diego) Best of the bunch
2. Christensen (Fresno) Has done slightly over 50 feet.
3. Frahm (LA State) Coming through lately.
4. Kaplan (Cal Poly) Mustangs may not even enter.

DISCUS

1. Anderson (Fresno) All by himself here.
2. H. Miller (LA State) Devils big hope.
3. Kusch (Fresno) Good second man.
4. Hoover (Santa Barbara) Strictly a tossup.

MILE RELAY

1. LA State—Mal's anchoring this one, remember?
2. Fresno State—Can Agostini hold up?
3. Santa Barbara—Beat the Diablos without Whitfield.
4. San Diego State—No trouble copping fourth for Border City.

Predicted final scores: Fresno State 63%, LA State 56%, San Diego State 20, Santa Barbara 18%, Long Beach State 3%, Cal Poly 1.

State Wins At Relays

LASC's distance medley relay team sloshed through the mud at Des Moines to capture first place last Saturday in the Drake Relays.

Wilbur Williams, Jim Burke, Fernandez Goode, and Mal Whitfield toured the track in 3m. 31.9s., finishing 12 yards ahead of runnerup Miami of Ohio.

Williams had a time of 52.2 for the opening 440, and Burks and Goode each clocked 22 seconds flat for their 220 yard trips with the baton.

Whitfield ran his two muddy laps in 1:55.7, taking the lead on the last curve and pulling away from the Miami anchorman.

The Diablos' mile relay team didn't fare quite so well, but managed to nail down second place behind Ablene Christian's quartet. Goode clocked 49.9s. for his relay lap, and Whitfield's 48 flat anchor leg brought the Staters to within 20 yards of the Texans at the finish. The Devils' time was approximately 3:20.5.

LASC student Danny Schweikart placed fifth in the invitational mile run. The national JC distance champ might have finished higher, but was jostled by another runner on the final 220 and almost lost his footing on the soggy track.

Local Milers Oppose Landy

Two LASC students — Danny Schweikart and Jerome Walters — were given the green light to run in the mile, featuring Australia's John Landy in the Coliseum Saturday afternoon.

The pair will join Oregon's Jim Bailey and Bill Dellinger, world 880 record holder Lon Spurrier, and Villanova's Ron Delaney, who will also be on hand to run against the Aussie star.

Vadetsky Sets Mark; Tracksters Win 84-47

Dimitri Vadetsky hurled the javelin 208ft. 2 1/2 in. for a new school record as LASC's spikers downed visiting Pepperdine 84-47 Tuesday.

The meet was originally scheduled for last Saturday but was postponed because of the wet track.

Vadetsky's effort topped his old record of 206ft. 6in. made earlier this season and stamped him as a definite favorite in the CCAA meet Saturday.

Coach Felix Jumonville used his top men sparingly, with Mal Whitfield running only the 440 and relay. Mal ran second in the latter race, rather than his usual anchor lap.

State's Dick Lachman, in the absence of Dan Miller, took over and won the high jump and low hurdles. He also placed second in the high sticks after a slow start, winding up with 13 points for the afternoon.

Pepperdine's Bob Mintum was the meet's only other double winner, but each one was extremely close. The Wave ace edged out LASC's Shelly Auerbach in a 4:49.7 mile, and he held off John Mitchell of the Devils in the 880. Mintum's 2:01.3 clocking was just .2 of a second better than that of Mitchell.

- 100—Burks (LA), Lusk (P), Peacock (LA), 9.8s.
- 220—Lusk (P), Barnes (P), Peacock (LA), 22.5s.

- (LA), 208 ft. 2 1/2 in. (New school record; old mark 206-6 by Vadetsky, 1955.)
- Broad Jump—Whitney (P), Goode (LA), Wilhelm (P), 22 ft. 9 1/2 in.

Discus—H. Miller (LA), Maroni (LA), Fleming (P), 141 ft. 8 1/2 in.
Javelin—Vadetsky (LA), Mitchell, Whitfield, Goode, Hoover, 3m. 27.2s.
Final score—LASC 84, Pepperdine 47.

Shires, Cappello Lose in Finals In Ojai Tourney

Dick Shires and Dave Cappello teamed up to give the Devils a four-way tie for the team title in the college division of the Ojai Tournament.

Cappello was eliminated in the quarter-final round of the singles, while Shires reached the semis, only to fall before the eventual winner, George DeWitts of the University of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-3.

But Shires and Cappeo teamed up in the doubles to move all the way into the finals against Sampson-Overmyer of Redlands. The Redlands aces tripped up the Black and Gold combo 6-3, 6-3 for first place.

Shires earned one point for reaching the semis in the singles and the doubles team notched two more points for second place to give the Diablos a total of three points and a tie with Redlands, Santa Barbara, and the University of San Francisco.

Bown Fails

Stater Jim Bown failed in his bid to retain his NAAU side horse title last weekend. Bud Kotys, old time gymnastic star, took the event, and Bown finished 10th.

After the opening exercise, the red haired Bown held a slight lead over the rest of the field. But during the compulsory exercise, the Diablo star slipped on the horse and as a result slipped to his final position of 10th.

The NAAU Meet was held as part of the US Olympic tryouts for the upcoming Melbourne trip.

Why Sen. Estes Kefauver reads The Reader's Digest

"A magazine like The Reader's Digest takes up where school leaves off. It touches on an impressive array of significant subjects. It throws a white light on the issues that confront us. It educates as it entertains."

Noon Music Series Offer Duo-Pianists

SIMMON, SCHARL . . .

. . . Prepare for Concert

Piano Team To Perform

Homer Simmons and George Scharl, duo-pianists, will be featured in the "Music at Noon" series on campus Tuesday.

All students are invited to attend the recital. Admission is free.

Simmons and Scharl have been performing as a team since 1938. They have appeared throughout the state and have introduced many new works to California audiences.

Much of their original material is now included in the repertoire of all the major two-piano teams appearing in the United States and abroad.

Simmons is a native of Evansville, Ind., but moved to Los Angeles at an early age. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California. He has appeared as soloist in many major orchestras. After WW II, he organized the Inglewood Musical Arts Society, and is still musical director of the organization.

Scharl was born in Los Angeles. He attended UCLA and is a graduate of Occidental College. He has served as organist and choir director of several different churches and has also been accompanist for many well-known singers touring the United States, Europe and the Hawaiian Islands.

CRS Announces Spring Show

The California Recreation Society announces its annual Spring Hobby Show to be held May 11th from 10 to 3 on the Ramona campus.

The show will be held in Building W and is open to all State College students.

Anyone who has a hobby and would like to enter the exhibition should pick up an application from Building M on the Main campus or from 755 Berendo on the Vermont campus.

Social Groups Hold Second Joint Party

The Interfraternity and Pan Hellenic Councils sponsored their second semesterly joint party Friday, April 27, at the Griffith Park Legion Hall.

The sorority-fraternity event had for its theme "Hard Times." Members of the seven social groups dressed appropriately in jeans and torn denims.

Jazz interludes were offered by Sherman Laster on trumpet and Dave Peterson on piano, both from Delta Kappa Phi.

Refreshments were handled by Lee Ables, Kappa Phi Sigma.

Approximately 75 attended the last joint affair of the year.

International Students Program 'Japanese Night' for 500 People

An estimated 500 persons will attend the "Japanese Night" program to be presented by the International Students Center Saturday at 8 p.m.

The center is located at 7065 Hollywood Blvd. All programs sponsored by the club are open to all students of Los Angeles State College.

Saturday's program will include Mr. Eto, blind Japanese kobo player, who was featured with the Kabuki dancers that toured the US earlier this year. Mayomi Ostubo, in charge of the production, has scheduled a number of other acts representative of traditional Japanese entertainment.

The affair is free to interested students. Students who wish to become members of the International Center are urged to attend.

Membership in the center gives the student a better chance to meet and gain a better understanding of people of other countries.

Those interested should contact Mr. and Mrs. James Ward, general secretaries of the center, or Student President Paul Sanfilippo.

History Club Lists Organization Meet

Students interested in furthering their knowledge of American and world history are invited to attend an initial meeting of the History Club Wednesday at 12 noon in K-5.

The agenda will include a discussion concerning the objectives of the club and drafts of a charter and constitution.

Guest speakers, discussion groups, historical movies, and field trips are some of the activities club members may participate in.

Sponsoring the organization will be instructors from the faculty of the history department.

All Students Invited To Attend Meeting

Students interested in the social studies are invited to attend the next meeting of the LASC chapter of the National Council for the Social Studies to be held Tuesday in H-2, Ramona campus, at 3:30 p.m.

Election of temporary officers included Helen Real, president and Ray Chavira Jr, secretary, and the selection of a Constitutional Committee, consisting of Miss Real, Dorothy Hefner, Chavira, Mitsuru Sasahara, Elmer Semel and Quido Daponte.

The event is open to all who are interested. Refreshments will be served following the discussion.

CSTA Holds Meet at Asilomar

Ten delegates represented Los Angeles State College in the April 27-28 convention of the CSTA Executive Council held at Asilomar.

Highlights of the convention meetings included debates on the segregation problem and the joining of the National Education Association. Committee meetings and planned social activities made up the balance of the convention activities.

State College students attending were Bob Wright, who barely missed being elected State Officer for '56-'57, and Carla Anthonson, Felicia Reichard, Sheila Bernstein, Bob Crouch, Don Yorenzinni, Adrienne Grainik, Sandra Wisner, Sheldon Winston and President Bernard Hawkins of the State College CSTA chapter.

Mrs. Isabel Dible and Mrs. Katherine Sistrom acted as sponsors of the group during their stay.

Next on the agenda for the local chapter is today's panel discussion, "What They Didn't Teach Us," at the California Teacher's Association building, 1125 West 6th Street.

Members of the panel will all be student teachers who will complete their assignments in June. Their observations and comments will be of interest to those students going into this phase of teaching in the fall.

AWS Condems Extreme Dress

This week the Associated Women Students Board came up with a few suggestions to State coeds on the dos and don'ts of campus wear.

Stressing simplicity in dress, the hints are that charm, or the art of being your natural self is the real key to being "well dressed."

"Always bear in mind that there is a proper place for everything and a college campus is not the place for off the shoulder or strapless fashions, are not considered proper attire either," the Board said.

'Matinee' To Feature American Folklore

Readings in American folklore will be interested by four students Wednesday noon in E-3 at this semester's Reader's Matinee.

Each semester students participate in this free activity under the sponsorship of speech professor Dr. Anthony Hillbruner.

This year readers are Steven Conside, William Green, Don Rogers, and Eugene Williamson.
